Disability Inclusion & Accessibility

Disability Inclusion Lunch & Learn

Thank you to those who joined us for the Disability Inclusion Lunch & Learn on June 22, online and in person. It was a packed house!

You can find a recap of the event along with a link to the presentation here.

Creating Accessible Documents

Take a look at these guides provided by our Director of Disability Inclusion and Accessibility, Marc Guillaume.

Ableism

“A system that places value on people’s bodies and minds based on societally constructed ideas of normalcy, intelligence, excellence and productivity. These constructed ideas are deeply rooted in anti-Blackness, eugenics, colonialism and capitalism. This form of systemic oppression leads to people and society determining who is valuable and worthy based on a person’s appearance and/or their ability to satisfactorily [re]produce, excel and “behave.” You do not have to be disabled to experience ableism.”

ASL (American Sign Language)

American Sign Language (ASL) is a complete, natural language that has the same linguistic properties as spoken languages, with grammar that differs from English. ASL is expressed by movements of the hands and face and is used by about 500,000 Americans, which is approximately 1% of those with hearing loss in the U.S.
